

Time: 12/10/2023 – 26/10/2023

- We have been assigned our project, named an AI-driven podcast and our client for the project is IBM.
- We've had our first meeting with John McNamara from IBM to discuss initial requirements and the plan for the project. We were suggested to use MoSCoW requirements scheme to identify the key and optional requirements.

The initial structure looks like this, though this will likely change as we continue to research and complicate the podcast:

1. Text from ChatGPT
2. Text to Speech from ElevenLabs
3. CapCut to edit
4. YT Audio Library for music
5. Upload on SoundCloud + YT
6. Podcast cover from MidJourney

The plan for next week is to:

- Start and finish HCI report, gathering requirements and producing sketched/prototypes.

We are really excited for this project and looking forward to doing it!