Time: 23/1/2024 – 6/2/2024

Firstly, we have been progressing well with script and audio generation, as well as web page writing.

We have implemented a RAG feature, which allows for pdf files to be uploaded and converted into episodes.

We also have developed the frontend using react for our project.

When it comes to audio generation, we have completed the first part of it, which is taking a script variable and converting it into an mp3 file. It is possible to choose voices for both host and guest.

The plan for the next week is to:

- Continue improving the script generation.
- Improve audio generation by adding music, and adding more voices (add cloned voices)
- Continue building the website
